REASON:

Grains take profits off highs, spec fund net longs at or near record levels

EXPORT SALES @ 7:30 AM TOMORROW*MORNING TRIVIA: What is the largest joint in the human body?MARKET HEADLINES

- Quick Editorial: the grains are taking profits this morning but not before opening higher last night and squeaking out more move highs; little has changed fundamentally or geopolitically as Russian attacks once again damaged infrastructure at Ukraine's Odesa port overnight, and Russian officials publicly rebuked any chance for a Black Sea grain export deal to resume.
- Jordan issued an international tender for up to 120k tonnes of optional-origin milling wheat, closing September 15, for shipment from mid-Oct through mid-Nov. They are also seeking 120k tonnes of barley in a tender closing this morning, receiving offers from two trading companies thus far.
- Russia has suspended grain export duties until the end of calendar 2026.
- The German Ag Ministry estimated 2026 grain production at 37.4 MMT, down 7.3% year-over-year due to summer drought and heat.
- StoneX Brazil estimated 2026/27 soybean production at 183.5 MMT, up from 183.1 MMT last month (due to slightly higher southern yields) and 182.6 MMT last year. Final 2025/26 corn output was raised from 110.7 to 110.9 MMT this month, still below 112.1 MMT the previous season; first-crop corn for 2026/27 was raised from 28.7 to 29.3 MMT (due to increases in both acreage and yields), up from 28.6 MMT the prior year. Total corn output for the 2026/27 season is now seen at 141.9 MMT, up from 141.25 MMT in 2025/26.
- European Commission data yesterday showed cumulative soft wheat exports from July 1 through August 30 at 4.16 MMT, down from 4.32 MMT a year ago; corn imports of 3.16 MMT are up from 2.24 MMT a year ago, with soybean imports of 1.87 MMT down from 2.49 MMT at this point last season.
- July USDA total soybean crush came in at 221.9 million bushels, above the 220.1 mbu estimate and 217.8 mbu in June, and up 205.1 mbu last July (the previous record for the month). Trade estimates ranged from 219.0-221.3 million bushels. Corn used for ethanol of 475 mln bu was up from 467 mln last month and 458 mbu last year. DDGs produced were 1.853 million short tons, up from 1.820 mln in June but below 1.866 mln last July.
- CBOT September Deliveries: corn 203 contracts, with next trade date available 8/28/26; bean oil 256 and 8/21; Chi wheat 9 and 8/20; KC 29 and 8/28.

WEATHER UPDATE

- Rains were mostly light and scattered across the northern Plains and corn belt over the past 24 hours and remain there this morning; that same general pattern continues through the weekend. Extended maps show more of the same with heavy rains remaining in the western U.S., but plenty of chances continuing to creep into the Plains and northern/northwestern corn belt. Temps will stay hot near-term and safely above-normal up through mid-September.
- Dryness continues in most of Argentina while rains become more widespread throughout Brazilian crop areas, aiding moisture for wheat and soy planting.

FUNDAMENTAL UPDATE

2026/27 soybean export sales are now technically the old-crop, but export sales reporting is only through August 20, and even tomorrow will only be through 8/27; cumulative sales including daily flash sales up through 8/31 stand at 16.8 MMT (617 mbu), still the strongest in four years but behind the three before that. Cumulative '26/27 sales to China and "unknown" stand at 14.1 MMT, or 519 mbu.
